Our View

Soaring Oil prices, solid domestic demand for Gas and large customer base that include Nations top Tier 1 Utilities. The record revenues of the past year and the latest quarter suggest that the management is doing something right to gain market share. We believe the company is most likely to continue the rapid pace of growth for the rest of the year.

Based up on the reported revenues for the First Quarter of 2011, its fair to say the company could increase revenues by 100% for the year 2011, keep in mind that the company has record revenues of over $55 Million Dollars in 2010.
